DEFER HARPER STRIKE PENDING MAYOR'S ACTION

Parents Ask Dever's Aid to Prevent Pupils' Transfer From District

Pending Mayor Dever's pledged assistance in an adjustment of the Harper school situation, parents of children excluded from classes there have refrained from calling a student's strike

Portables originally designed for the use of the lower grades are being completed as fast as possible by a corps of carpenters at Harper junior high school. Children of the first, second and third grades will be placed in them at once, school officials said yesterday. W. J. Harrower denied Harper school has in it unused rooms and stated that the only space available in the building is that for which equipment has not yet been furnished by the board for shop work to be carried on in them.

Report of the success of the mayor in influencing the board of education against the ordered transfer of pupils will be received at a mass meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday night in Thoburn M. E. church, 64th and Paulina sts.

"Giving Mayor Chance"

"We expect to hear by that time that he can help us We are giving Mayor Dever a chance to settle the problem If he cannot, we will make further plans to empty Harper school Monday morning. The fight is going to go on until the children are back in our school district," said William K. Peak, president of the West Englewood Lions club Tuesday morning.

Reasons for keeping their children at Harper were explained to Mayor Dever by a committee of 200 parents through their spokesmen at conference at 11 o'clock Thursday morning in the city hall.

"Politics does not enter into this matter out in West Englewood but we have decided that you, as mayor of Chicago, are our last resort for help," explained Alderman Thomas F. Byrne, in presenting the delegation to the city's executive.

Danger of the crossings was explained by Dr. J. H. DeLacy.

"We tried to have our troubles settled in court as law abiding citizens would do but we were told by the judges that the school board had authority in its actions They recommended, however, that grade children

FRUIT DEALERS AND GROCERS FORM E. B. M. A. SUBSIDIARY UNIT

AGREE TO CLOSE STORES MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS AND FRIDAYS AT 7 O'CLOCK

The fruit, vegetable and grocery dealers in the Englewood district met in the office of the Englewood Business Men's association in the Chicago City bank building Tuesday afternoon, October 7, at the call of Business Manager C. R. Edrington for the purpose of forming a subsidiary organization to the E. B. M. A. for the mutual benefit of the dealers in this line Twelve signed for membership.

A short time ago a city wide movement was started by the Retail Clerks International Protective association to close all the fruit stores in Chicago every night in the week except Saturday. It was planned by the members and officers of the Clerks organization to put this plan into effect on October 15, which would have meant that the dealers in Englewood would have been forced to close their places of business every night except Saturday even though the merchants in other lines were open on Tuesday and Thursday of each week. This seemed an unnecessary hardship to Mr. Edrington, who immediately communicated with the dealers.

At the meeting A. P. Forrest, president of Local 694, R. C. I. P. A., and Fred Obrock, business agent of the same organization, sat in with the business men while the new organization was being formed so that they would more thoroughly understand the problems of the employers. After listening to the arguments presented by the dealers, the officials of the labor organization decided to change their plans for the whole city and agreed to ask the dealers to close on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week at 7 o'clock and to allow them to remain open on Tuesday and Thursday until 10 and on Saturday until 11 and to remain closed on Sundays and holidays.

Albert A. Phillips was elected chairman Tuesday of this week and will hold that office until the start of the new club year in January. The name, Grocery, Fruit and Vegetable Bureau of the E. B. M. A. was chosen for the organization and meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of each month in the offices of Business Manager Charles R. Edrington.

Membership at this meeting increased to seventeen and every fruit dealer in the district covered by the Englewood Business Men's association has joined. Each member gave a cash bond of $25 to abide by the regulations of the organizations.

It was agreed by the members that they would remain closed on all of the six National holidays but will be allowed to remain open until 11 o'clock on days preceding holidays and also for seven days preceding Christmas. That they will not be victims of unfair competition from dealers outside of the territory is assured by the regulations of the Retail Clerks' union.

NEW PRINCIPALS TAKE PLACES AT PARKER SCHOOL THIS WEEK

WILBUR H. WRIGHT IN PLACE OF PERRINE, WHO GOES TO LAKE VIEW SCHOOL

Charles H. Perrine, principal of Parker high school since November, 1920, gave a farewell assembly talk Friday afternoon preparatory to his transfer to Lake View high school. Tuesday morning he assumed his new duties at the larger institution, where 3,900 pupils are enrolled.

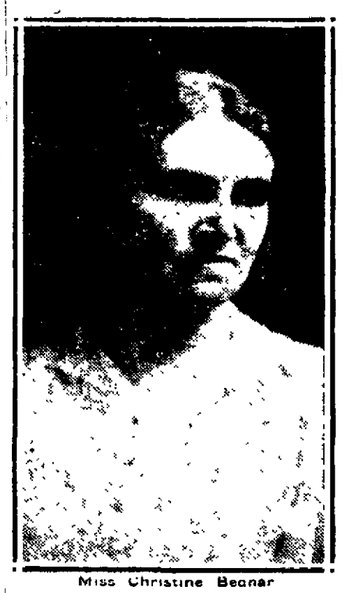
Previous to coming to the Normal pkwy. building, Mr. Perrine was teacher and assistant principal at Wendell Phillips high school. Parker has seen considerable growth during his administration until this year when increases in the normal college and junior high school crowded out many of the senior high school students, leaving only 1,300 in attendance.

U. of I. Graduate

Wilbur H. Wright who succeeded to the principalship of the Parker senior high school was, up to Friday, head of the Gladstone and Brainerd elementary schools and the Juvenile Detention school, and was formerly assistant principal at McKinley high school. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and took graduate work at Cornell university. His home is at 267 Edgewood pl., River Forest, Ill.

A second new chief at Parker is Miss Christine Bednar, formerly head of the Sherwood school, 247 W. 57th st., who was appointed head of the elementary school, October 8. She assumed her new position Tuesday, taking charge of work handled by



Miss Christine Bednar

Walter R. Hatfield before enlargement of the junior high school required all his attentions there.

Miss Bednar, who makes her home at 132 W. Marquette rd., knows Parker well. Coming there in 1910 as a high school instructor, she was assistant principal of the high school from 1912 to 1922, acting as principal for four years.

Fought for Playground

Few folk in Englewood but heard, about a year ago, of the campaign organized by Miss Bednar which resulted in the purchase of the Sherwood park by the city council for $35,000. Her work with the school children of the changing neighborhood convinced her of the dire necessity for a playground there and when leasing of the tract was no longer possible, authorities were convinced that it must be purchased.

Miss Bednar is a graduate of the University of Nebraska with Phi Beta Kappa honors and received a master's degree from the University of Chicago, specializing in mathematics and education. She has since done graduate work at the same school and Columbia university and the past summer attended lectures at the University of Cambridge in England She is active in work of the Chicago teachers' organizations.

Miss Anna Stock, a Harrison high school teacher, was selected by the board of education as Miss Bednar's successor at Sherwood school. She began her work there Tuesday morning.

PAPER ENTERS NEW ERA WITH CURRENT ISSUE

Economist Carriers Bring in 24,361 Subscribers at Contest's Close

After a campaign of less than one month, conducted by high school boys who are carriers for the paper, the Southtown Economist goes this week onto a paid circulation basis. The boys have brought in 24,361 subscriptions, but mail orders are coming in constantly, and work of woman solicitors, whose results have not been totaled, is being continued until territory the boys have been unable to reach has been covered.

The boys' prize contest ended Saturday, but it will take several days to finish computation of percentages each boy's rating in the contest will depend upon how large a proportion of the residents on his route he secured as subscribers) and make possible the announcement of prize winners.

"The boys have done the finest sort of work," said Walter J. Carmichael, Economist circulation manager, who has personally handled the contest. "Considering the amount of time they had to put in on it, I never saw anything like the results they have been getting.

"But the fact that the boys are through doesn't mean our circulation campaign is over. Announcement in last week's paper of the end of the boy's contest simply snowed my desk under with mail orders. There are thousands of subscriptions still to be had in Southtown and we won't stop until everybody has had a chance to give his subscription to a personal solicitor.

"You say you're going to put what I'm saying in the paper? Well, won't you just ask folks to be as considerate of the boys as possible, for the next week or two? The fellows are a bit new to this business of seeing that the paper goes only where it has been ordered—they'll do their best, but it may take them a week or two to get things entirely straight."

The following places will have the Central edition of the Economist for sale at 3 cents per copy.

"GET INTO BIG GAME" PLEA OF WILLIAMS

His talk sparkling with wit, the Rev. Elmer Williams, the "fighting parson," made a plea before a large group of members of the Englewood Business Men's association at last Thursday's luncheon that they "get into the big game, and solve the problem of making Democracy safe.

"Two kinds of folks think decent people oughtn't to take part in politics," he said, "the pious individual who wants all the benefits of civilization without its responsibilities and the man who is in politics, not for public service, but for private gain. We must have public sentiment back of law enforcement no matter how many police there are."

Dr. Williams sounded a warning of destruction to come if right thinking people do not "put more brains and courage into political activity," and cited figures indicating rapid increase in murders in Cook county since 1921.

"Miss Chicago," Miss Margaret Leigh, charming in a quaint flowered taffeta frock and with a shepherdess hat over her mass of curls, was a guest of the day, telling the company of the contest at the Trianon and the royal reception she received at Atlantic City where Miss Leigh was awarded first place in the midwest section, and second in the rolling chair parade.

"Miss Chicago" and her mother were taken, following the luncheon, to the station of Fire Insurance Patrol No. 9 where Captain William Enright took them on a tour of inspection, "Miss Chicago's" first visit to a fire station.

OLSEN REAPPOINTED BY HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION

Y., where he had spent a week attending sessions of the twenty-sixth annual conference of the American Hospital association. He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Olsen. Representatives of practically all hospitals in Chicago were at the meeting.

In his position as chairman of the legislative committee of the organization, to which he was reappointed, Dr. Olsen made reports at the Tuesday and Wednesday sessions, and on Thursday gave a discussion of nursing efficiency in a hospital giving a two years' course of training.

DENEEN COMPLETES STATE TOUR, SPEAKS IN EVERY COUNTY

TO STRESS NEED FOR LAKES TO GULF WATERWAY IN TRIP OUTSIDE ILLINOIS

After a strenuous four weeks of campaigning through the state, reaching and speaking in every one of the hundred counties, Charles S. Deneen, Republican nominee for United States senator, returned Saturday to spend the week end at home. After a brief rest Sunday and Monday, the former governor resumed the campaign activities He has been called by the national Republican committee to make a speaking tour outside the state in behalf of the national ticket and expects to start this week.

Enthusiastic receptions throughout the state greeted Mr. Deneen and his party in each town. Well attended luncheons and meetings presented interested audiences to the speakers, giving every indication of a successful campaign.

During the course of the trip, Mr. Deneen visited several of the places he knew as a boy, particularly McKendree colege at Lebanon, his alma mater, of which he is a trustee representing the fourth generation of his family enjoying that honor.

In the local campaign Mr. Deneen will dwell upon the benefit to Chicago and the state of the lakes to gulf waterway, in which he is deeply interested, in fact, has been for years, having introduced in the general assembly, while a member there, legislation bearing on the subject.

ARREST TWO MEN IN $7,000 CLOTHING STORE BURGLARY, OCT. 8

IN SECOND STORE BREAKING, SOL BOWER LOSES $3,000 IN MERCHANDISE

In taking into custody two men seen acting suspiciously near Bernard's Clothing store, 6200 Halsted st., early Wednesday morning of last week, Englewood police arrested part of a gang that burglarized the place and stole clothing valued at over $7,000.

Officers Smith, Lyons, Brennan, Cody and Burke were making their final report to the station from a corner near the store before leaving duty when the two men were seen running away from an automobile as it sped away from the curb at the rear of the store. They pursued the men and took them into custody.

Break Through Ceiling

Upon investigation the officers discovered that the store had been entered by breaking through the ceiling from the vacant flat above and that practically the complete stock had been removed. Piles of clothing were stacked in the rooms above, which the thieves apparently planned to take away in another trip.

The goods found consisted of forty-eight men's suits, ten overcoats and five dresses. Part of it had been stuffed into sacks. The entire stock of fur coats had been removed as had much of the clothing

The men arrested gave their names as William Evertson, 35, 3132 Emerald ave., and Albert Moore, 9525 Ave. M. They refused to name their companions or give the police any clues.

An attorney was not present to represent the men when they were arraigned before Judge Joseph S. LaBuy in the Grand Crossing court Friday and they secured a continuance until Saturday, when the case was again continued

Tunnel Into Basement

Brick walls in the basement and rear of a building occupied by the Sol Bower cloak store at 6922 Wentworth ave., were tunnelled by two burglars early the morning of October 8 in order to enter the establishment. They escaped with $2,000 worth of men's wearing apparel, the day's receipts of $500, and jewelry valued at $1,000, committing the fourth burglary Mr. Bower has experienced in eleven years.

Diamond earrings, a diamond ring and a lavaliere were listed as valuables taken from the safe, which was opened by working the combination. The jewelry was the property of Mrs N. H. Spero, wife of a partner in the firm. No women's garments were stolen.

Loot was taken from the place in a Ford coupe, it is believed. John J. Blake, 6925 Yale ave., notified the proprietors of the shop at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday morning, shortly after observing two men making several trips to and from the alley back of the store in the machine between the hours of 6:30 and 7 o'clock.

Insurance on the merchandise will cover about half the loss Mr. Bower said. Mrs. Spero's jewelry was uninsured, however. Total losses were sustained by the merchant on the three other occasions when he was robbed, due to lack of insurance.

JUDGE'S TALK RAPS RADICALS AT LIONS MEET

Englewood Club Hears Judge C. A. Williams and "WBCN Radio Program"

An address by Superior Court Judge Charles A. Williams that was basically a decided attack on political demagoguery, along with a program of entertainment, novel because of the fact that it was presented after the style employed by a radio station, marked the Englewood Lions' club's first meeting of the autumn, Tuesday noon at the College cafe on Englewood ave.

With perhaps a dozen members of rival Southtown Lions, Kiwanis, and other clubs present as guests, a generous attendance of Englewood Lions heard Judge Williams denounce the direct primary as a "retrogression" and an instrument leading the nation back from the republican form of government to a "town hall situation."

And the assemblage heard, with equal interest, Robert "Bob" Northrop, director of the new Southtown Economist radio station, WBCN, conduct a series of songs and piano numbers by well known radio artists much as programs will be conducted when WBCN goes into operation next month. On this bill were Maurie Wetzel, pianist and composer of "Static," and other numbers; Miss "Nubs" Allen, pretty soloist, and Jimmy Eggert, another popular songster

Preceding the meeting, members of the club gathered at the corner of 63rd and Halsted sts. for a bit of fun, which included a few pranks by a ferocious "lion" Among these pranks was one which consisted principally of a "wrestling match" between the "lion" and Traffic Officer Zesch.

Take "Movies"

Scenes showing the "lion" chasing Lions into their meeting place were shot by a "movie" cameraman under the direction of Frank Hallenbeck. These pictures are scheduled to be shown at the local theaters soon. A good-sized crowd of passers-by watched the amusing antics of the "actors."

After being introduced by Dr. William L. Gregg, Judge Williams began by declaring that the purpose of our government is "protection for the weak and not protection for the strong—government by right instead of government by might"

The judge enumerated the several forms of government that had prevailed before our Republic was launched, citing their weaknesses and causes of failure.

"Government was more or less experimental until the framers of our Constitution came along," said the judge. "Even Washington felt that our attempt at government was an experiment, and at one time feared that the country was drifting back into a state of anarchy. But today we have the oldest government on earth."

Further on, Judge Williams said: "The Constitution does not guarantee that the majority is always right and that the majority shall always rule. It protects the minority against the capriciousness of the majority."

The constitutional form of government is "elastic," stated the speaker, who then came out openly in opposition to the direct primary, asserting that it is causing "us to get away from republican government and is bringing us very close to a chasm—a disaster!"

The primary engenders "a race of cheap tricky politicians," was another declaration of the judge.

Hits at Referendum

The initiative and referendum were termed "mandates of the majority without regard to the rights of the minority."

"As to the future of our government, I hesitate to say. I am worried, pessimistic, as to the future. The future, it seems to me, is in the hearts of our people."

As one reason for his pessimism, he alleged that the virtues of thrift and economy have disappeared, and of today is not guided by the same high ideals as that of yore.

Following the Williams' talk, "Dave" Swanson, candidate for re-election to the state house of representatives, urged all to take advantage of their last chance to register.

Before Judge Williams spoke, "Buck" Plain, manager of White City amusement park, and president of the Woodlawn Lions' club, told the good his connection with the club had done for him during his five years of membership, and briefly related some experiences in Lion circles in other cities. He also suggested, in referring to the new Economist radio station, WBCN, that the announcer always include "Englewood" in his mention of the station's name and location.

SOAP BOX ORATOR ARRESTED AS RADICAL

Max Shachtman, 21 years old, 639 E. 50th pl., was arrested Thursday night by Officer Quinn of the Englewood station when he made what the officer deemed a radical speech on the corner of 62nd and Halsted sts. He told the police that he was the editor of the radical paper, "The Young Worker" He was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $50 bonds.

He demanded a jury trial when arraigned before Judge Joseph S. LaBuy in the Grand Crossing court Friday.

WILL PLAY LEAD IN KIWANIS SHOW

Ah, yes, the "Inside Inn" has its village gossip—"Madame Ripley," to be played by Mrs. Homer G. Sailor.

"Ready to go on."

That's the opinion of Deles Owen and Charles Carrell of the Joe Bren Production company who are directing the performances of the minstrel show and musical comedy to be given by the Englewood Kiwanis club at the South Side Masonic temple on the evenings of October 29 and 30. They believe that if the date for the performances were today instead of two weeks hence, as they really are, the show would be a success. Every one of the cast has his part well learned and the final weeks of practice will be devoted to polishing the performances so that when the show is staged it will surpass anything ever offered by amateurs.

A variety of tastes in entertainment will be satisfied by the Kiwanis production. First there will be a minstrel show with original songs and special dancing numbers and this will be followed by a musical comedy, "The Inside Inn," in two scenes.

The first of these scenes is laid in a hotel lobby with Mrs. K. Ray Ballantine furnishing one of the specialties by singing "He's Me Kiddo," assisted by a Bowery chorus of eight couples. Marie Bause has a solo number, "Longing," and she will be assisted by eight of the girls in the chorus.

Then the action in the second scene takes place in the Orient and here Dr. Frank J. Norton, as "King" and Walter McCoy as "Queen" furnish the comedy lines. Jeanne Antrim, "the King's favorite dancer," will interpret an Oriental dance as one of the features of this scene.

The minstrel show and musical comedy take but two hours together proving that both parts of the program are "short and snappy" and plenty of time will remain for the dance to be held immediately afterward and which will continue to 1 o'clock.

AGED COUPLE, 64 YEARS WED, DIE 3 DAYS APART

United in death as in life, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Christie, who spent the last fourteen years of their lives in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Simpson, 6337 Harvard ave., were buried Monday side by side in Mt. Hope cemetery. They died only three days apart, from causes assigned as "old age," after having passed their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary on September 25.

Angus Christie, who for years was connected with the S. E. Cross Real Estate company, was 91 years old and his wife was 82. They came to Chicago in 1883, from Ontario, Canada, the birthplace of both.

On the aged couple's fiftieth anniversary, they were presented with a leather-bound volume containing congratulatory messages from many friends, far and near. On their sixtieth anniversary, both were still enjoying good health. However, on their last anniversary, the sixty-fourth, each was ill and they were unable to observe their custom of celebrating with their children, all three of whom lived with them at 6337 Harvard ave. Despite their illness, though, their minds were keen and alert to the end.

Mrs. Christie, a member of the Pilgrim Congregational church, had devoted much of her time to aiding missionary activities. She was usually found busily engaged at fancy work, which she sold for the benefit of the missionary cause.

Surviving Mr. and Mrs. Christie are the three daughters, Mrs Simpson, Miss Mable Christie and Mrs. Ida Christie Baines.

TEMPLE CORNERSTONE LAID WITH CEREMONY

Robert W. Maxwell, 1325 W 112th st., president of the Prince Hall Masonic Grand Lodge of Illinois, was master of ceremonies Sunday morning at the cornerstone laying of the new temple at 56th and State sts. "My Country 'Tis of Thee" sung by the Berean choir, accompanied by the Berean band, opened the service at 10 o'clock. The invocation was made by R. H. Hunter, grand chaplain. More choir music followed.

Short talks by Thomas H. Samuels, grand master, and Stewart Jefferson, chairman of the board of directors, were followed by choir music and an address by Major R. R. Jackson. Grand Master Samuels laid the cornerstone, and the ceremonies closed with the benediction.

VAMPIRE CAR HITS MOTHER, 2 DAUGHTERS

Mrs. Monks Expected to Die of Injuries; Speeding Driver Gets Away

Victims of a speeding automobile that failed to stop after it struck them, Mrs. Ruth Monks, 27 years old, 14 W. 72nd st., and her two daughters, Mary, 9, and Joan, 8, lie in St. Bernard's hospital seriously injured. The mother is expected to die while her eldest daughter is in a serious condition

They were crossing Vincennes ave. at 72nd st Saturday night when the speeding car without lights and without a warning horn struck them. The machine failed to slow down and passersby who rushed to the aid of the injured trio saw it continue north at a high rate of speed and turn east into 71st st. Motorists started to pursue the machine but it outdistanced them after it turned south into State st.

Edward Knoth, 7142 Peoria st., took the women and the two children to the hospital. Examination by physicians showed that Mrs. Monks had suffered a fractured skull and her head was badly lacerated. Attendants expressed little hope for her recovery Mary also sustained a fractured skull and is in a critical condition. Joan was badly cut on the legs.

Englewood police, on questioning witnesses, learned that the car was a Dodge roadster, old and dirty, and had a glass winter enclosure. The first number of the license was 3. Two men were riding in the car.

Several messages have been sent out by the police giving a description of the car and asking that a city-wide search be made of garages for the machine. It is believed that in striking the woman and her daughters that the front fender on the car was bent and that the headlight was broken.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rozena, 47 years old, 730 W. 62nd st., suffered a fractured skull Saturday afternoon when the automobile she was riding in with her husband, Charles, was struck and overturned by a machine driven by Walter Davis, 1104 W. 81st st., at 60th and Morgan sts. Davis was arrested by the Englewood police and charged with assault with a deadly weapon. He was arraigned in the Grand Crossing court Tuesday and at the request of the police the case was continued pending Mrs. Rozena's recovery.

BANDITS TAKE $600 IN LOCAL WALGREEN STORE SUNDAY NIGHT

GUNS THREATEN MANAGER AND CLERKS WHILE CASHIER IS ROBBED OF CASH

Five employes of Walgreen's Drug store, 6236 Halsted st., were held up shortly before closing time Sunday night and the store was robbed of over $600, the week end receipts, by two armed bandits

No customers were in the store fifteen minutes before midnight, the hour set for closing, when the two robbers entered. They herded W. O. Stoll, 7705 Oglesby ave., the manager, and Charles Gannella, Miss Babe McIntyre, and Otto Harper, clerks, into the back room and one of the bandit pair stood guard over them as they faced the wall.

His companion forced Miss Bernice Reuckert, the cashier, to give him the money in the cash drawer and then held the revolver at the girl's head while she opened the safe and gave him the larger portion of the loot.

Then she was forced into the rear room and lined up with the other employes. With a warning not to follow them, the bandits turned and fled through the front door.

Manager Stoll and the clerks followed the bandits almost immediately but they had disappeared. Whether or not they escaped in an automobile it was impossible to tell.

Officials of the company believe that the same pair that held up the Englewood store staged the robbery in the store at 2600 N. Clark st. earlier in the evening Descriptions of the bandits tallied ever finished for one year, will be turned in at Wednesday's "roundup." Most of the articles are for children, Mrs. Stahl having worked for them solely until recently when she decided that old women were commonly neglected by charitable organizations and were therefore particularly deserving.

Mrs. Kelly, who is 69, spent part of her three-week absence from Chicago in Toronto and Deseronto, Canada, where she visited a niece and brother.

Every scrap of material donated to the association is utilized, and if not available for clothing, or trimming, is put up in bundles of bright bits, which are given to help entertain old ladies. One particularly pretty dress which Mrs. Stahl and her work committee have made, was fashioned from a discarded cape which an apartment house janitor salvaged and carried to the Stahl home. Its lining went into a little coat.

Mrs. Stahl, a charming little white haired woman, began the philanthropic work twenty-six years ago, later affiliating with the visiting nurses, whom she considers especially well adapted for distributing clothing to good advantage. All cutting is done at her home and the work stored there.

"I talk of nothing else," Mrs. Stahl tells her friends. "This has been my work for so many years that I consider it one of the best big things in my life—my church, my home (we have lived in this house more than forty years) and the Normal Park section."

You cannot possibly have a broader basis for any government than that which includes all the people, with all their rights in their hands, and with an equal power to maintain their rights.

—William Lloyd Garrison.

FOR OUR NEIGHBOR, CHARLES S. DENEEN

Urging the candidacy of any individual for political office has always been taboo in these columns, and participating in partisan politics is not our intention at this time, but loyalty to one of our most prominent citizens and neighbor impels us to lend our aid to the election of Charles S. Deneen for United States Senator. Seldom have voters the opportunity to choose between two such high grade, capable men for political office as are now offered with Mr. Deneen the Republican nominee and Col. A. A. Sprague the Democratic nominee for United States Senator from Illinois. Both are men with a keen sense of public duty and have both demonstrated their ability to be faithful to their trusts. But, besides being our neighbor Mr. Deneen has the added advantage of experience.

In nominating Charles S. Deneen for the office of United States Senator from Illinois, Republicans tendered a signal honor to Southtown, and gave recognition to a man who has earned approbation through long and capable activity in political and governmental channels in the state.

Mr. Deneen is a native of Illinois, born at Edwardsville, and comes of a family of Illinois pioneers. His great grandfather came to this part of the country before Illinois had been admitted to Statehood, and was a member of the territorial assembly, the legislative body of his time.

Mr. Deneen received his degree of A. B. from McKendree college, Lebanon, Ill., in 1882, was admitted to the bar in 1886, and started the practice of law in Chicago in 1890, making his home in Englewood since that time. In 1892 he was a member of the Illinois House of Representatives; attorney for the Sanitary District of Chicago, 1895-96; state's attorney for Cook county, from 1896 to 1904; and governor of Illinois for two terms, from 1905 to 1913.

After retiring from the governorship he resumed the practice of law, but kept up his political activity.

Faithfulness to any post assumed is instinctive with Mr. Deneen, as he has been reared in an environment where the privilege of citizenship was always considered a serious responsibility and the discharge of the attendant duties a matter of necessity, regardless of difficulties attached.

We recommend Mr. Deneen to the voters of Southtown because we believe his long residence here is an indication of his loyalty to the town. Besides the honor of having the home of the United States Senator here we believe that the south end of the city, territory adjacent to ours, where great harbor and industrial development is scheduled to begin, will not suffer where federal government activities are concerned if Mr. Deneen is our Senator.

AN EPOCH

This week is epochal in the history of the Southtown Economist, for it marks the first publication of the paper as a paid circulation newspaper, after an eighteen years' history as a free distribution sheet. Now that the paid circulation campaign has been successfully accomplished, and the Economist is going into 25,000 homes where it is being paid for, we may admit experiencing some trepidation when the change in policy was launched. We had been giving our paper to the public. Were they accepting it gratefully and reading it? We believed that they were. And the acid test was applied.

In view of the fact that solicitation was done by high school boys who often put in only an hour a day, or not that, and that the campaign has extended over a period of less than a month, the results are truly remarkable. Many thousands of subscribers will doubtless be added within the next few weeks.

Success of the campaign means infinitely more than a tribute to the Economist's usefulness to the community. It is also a proof that the Southtown public has an eye to the future and is ready to do her share to further progress. There are good free circulation newspapers and there are bad ones. The Economist has tried to be a good one, but the best newspapers, even in the community weekly field, can only be had under a paid circulation policy. Southtown wants the best from its community newspaper, and is willing to co-operate to that end.

OCTOBER DAYS

Nature lovers usually find two seasons to wax poetic about spring and autumn. Spring on old Lake Michigan's shores is rather a chill, damp proposition. This leaves for Chicago and her environs, though there be those that elect summer or winter, autumn as the sea-son supreme to the vast majority. Get out away from the city's grey. It is the season of riotous color. Bright greens still, in places. Browns and russets, yellows and golds, reds of varying intensities—blue, blue skies that darken at night into star-filled depths of purple-black. A harvest moon that rises red from the eastern horizon. Warm air filled with fluttering leaves, presaging the coming of the barren branch times, and now and again a snappy morning to emphasize the prophecy. Smells—the intoxicating earthy odors the woods have only in autumn. In the city, a small section of this glorious autumn outdoors to be found in every home yard, and in the parks, with the atmosphere blue and murky and fragrant from burning leaves. Live these days we are having to their fullest, for there won't be others like them until a year hence.

FIFTY-FIFTY BREAK FOR PEDESTRIAN

In an adjoining column a contributor urges stringent regulation of pedestrian traffic as necessary before the motor death toll is decreased. But the Chicago Motor club, in a recent edition of "Traffic Tales," asks that the pedestrian be given "a 50-50 break." Application of the right hand right-of-way to pedestrians as well as motorists, in order that the man walking might know, if he be on the right side of the street, that he would have the right-of-way over all traffic approaching from the left.

"The right hand right-of-way law of Illinois does work out for motorists," reads the article. "It is not so rigidly enforced as it should be, however. We believe more attention should be paid to violations of this law than to speed violations."

But perhaps pedestrian traffic must be made to observe rules before it can be given rights. We'd hate to see all the responsibility for accidents placed upon the foot traveler, as it is in Paris and other foreign cities, yet certainly "jay walking" and other careless practices must be stopped. It is suicidal to step on a railway track in front of a train; an automobile is almost as destructive.

What Readers Are Thinking

(Letters to be inserted in this column must bear name and address of the writer. The signature may be omitted, however, when the letter is printed if writer so requests.)

MORE ON ALLEY PAVING

An article in the Economist of October 8, signed "A. H.," is more amusing than any conversations heard by the writer of the article in the newly paved gasoline alley. The ignorance and perversion displayed by the writer of the article, caused a big grin to come over the faces of the informed.

The writer's aspersions as to gentle graffers among city employes and his assertion that it would be much better to let a private contractor have the job because "the concrete work done by the city, is usually of a poor grade and more expensive," is all bunk. For comparison, let there be an examination of the alley paved by the city east of Normal ave., running south from 63rd to 65th sts., with any alley paved by a private contractor.

As to "property owners meeting their neighbors in the county court some morning and besides having judgment passed against their property, will also pay the court costs in addition," is more pure bunk. As a matter of fact, if a property owner does not sign the petition of a private contractor, he does not have to pay and the private contractor dares not sue the property owner for if such suit were brought, the private contractor would put himself out of business and, for the reason that it is a ruling of the Board of Local Improvements that if a private contractor sues a property owner to collect for paving an alley, no more permits for paving will be issued to him.

In fairness to the Board of Local Improvements, this should be said.

ARREST PEDESTRIANS

Judge John F. O'Connell's statement, "The time is coming when the right of moving vehicles to use the space between curbs will be more definitely recognized," made recently before the Englewood Business Men's association, shows that at least one of our magistrates in the municipal courts has the right idea of the problem presented by the number of automobile deaths.

Safety fanatics are preaching the gospel of slowing down the speed of automobiles as a means of preventing fatal accidents. Chief Collins' drastic orders have caused most motorists to drive at a rate of about fifteen miles an hour. But is there any marked decrease in the number of deaths? No, and the speed limit could be lowered to ten miles an hour with heavy fines for drivers who exceed this limit and still deaths would continue. I am not unreasonable and do not say there would be no decrease, but still it would not be up to expectations.

The only solution to the problem is to teach the public to observe ordinary precautions. They must be taught not to cross streets in the middle of the block, not to dart out from between cars parked at the curb and not to walk around the rear platform of street cars. And they must be taught the same way motorists are being taught to observe speed laws—by arrests and heavy fines.

Only when pedestrians co-operate in efforts to save their lives will attempts to lower the death rate be successful.

G. W. W.

Your paper as well as the city dailies discussed fire prevention at length, giving instructions for reporting fires by telephone. But I believe something should be done to instruct the poor who have no phones and who lose their children in fires. Only last week an 8 year old child on 50th st. died as a result of a fire. The parents did not have a telephone and did not know how to turn in the alarm.

As chairman of the department of the American home for the Third District Federated clubs, I should like to urge people first of all to locate the fire box nearest their homes. Then in case of a blaze it is a simple matter to rush to the box, unlock it and turn in the call. If the key cannot be located, break the box in order to give the signal, using a brick or hammer to open the case.

The American home is the greatest institution in this country. As such it should be protected in every way.

DAYLIGHT BANDITS FRIGHTENED AWAY

Three daylight bandits were frightened away Wednesday afternoon of last week when they attempted to stage a holdup in the storerooms of the Griffen Wholesale Drug company at 609 W. 63th st. Failure to see Edward Griffen, the proprietor, caused the bandits' plans to be frustrated.

The robbers entered the place and walked past Griffen who was in the front of the store behind a partition. They made their way to the back and two of them, who carried revolvers, forced William Griffen, 6812 Wentworth ave., and William Edert, 136 W. 71st st., order pickers, to hold up their hands.

Griffen saw the bandits and started to run out to summon the police. They discovered him at the same time and one leveled his revolver at the proprietor and commanded him to stop. Griffen ignored the command but the bandit did not shoot.

Running into the street, Griffen met Frank Cerny, the manager, who lives at 5120 Seeley ave. Cerny remained near the door to watch while Griffen ran to the fire station of Truck company No. 20 and summoned the police.

The bandits ran from the store and jumped into an automobile they had left standing at the curb and sped away.

HARRY ZOOK

WESTERN ELECTRIC MAN NAMED CHIEF ENGINEER OF ECONOMIST STATION

JOHN R. FOSTER WILL DIRECT OPERATING DEPARTMENT OF WBCN

WBCN, the new Southtown Economist radiocast station, will be efficiently operated mechanically, if the record of its new chief engineer, John Ralph Foster, whose appointment has just been made known, is any criterion.

Mr. Foster, a Canadian by birth and long residence, served as an officer and radio instructor in the British navy during the world war. His two years of service included a voyage which took him to France, Italy, northern Africa, Egypt, India and Australia.

Upon his return to Canada in 1920, he started a radio sales firm and also acted as operator in Winnipeg for Station LVS, a ten-watt set which was the first in western Canada to broadcast programs.

He next became chief engineer of the Manitoba Free Press two-kilowatt station CJCG, at Winnipeg, which was closed in 1923 when the provincial government took over all broadcasting and concentrated it in one station.

Minneapolis was Mr. Foster's succeeding center of activity. There he worked as consulting engineer and investigated the possibilities of combining radio and airplanes for the advancement of northern mining concerns.

Coming to Chicago, he affiliated with the Western Electric Co. as a designing engineer on high frequency work. It was from this line that the Economist station took him.

Mr. Foster, who has been residing at 5304 Van Buren st., but will move into Southtown soon, holds a first-class radio operator's license.

NEW TYPE OF SET DEMONSTRATED AT LISTENERS' MEET

"BEST YET" PROGRAM ENJOYED BY B. L. A. AT ITS LAST WEEK'S SESSION

The set that is expected by many to solve the problem of "perfect" reception was demonstrated by E. T. Flewelling, nationally known radio engineer and inventor, before last week's meeting of the Broadcast Listeners' association at the Hamilton Park Field house, Wednesday night.

Mr. Flewelling's set won first prize at the World's Radio fair at New York City recently. It is compact, neat, efficiently shielded and guarded in every way against loss of energy—in fact, is entirely different than all other types of sets.

Another technical feature was an hour's instruction in the building of the Romberg low-loss selective receiver by the developer, M. H. Romberg of the University of Chicago faculty. He had on exhibition a three-tube set he assembled for one of the association members.

On the entertainment program were the popular Cambridge Sisters, songsters, who were accompanied by Olive Ingram, all of whom are charter members of the B. L. A.; Florence K. White, dramatic concert soprano, who was accompanied by Miss Iva Girls, organist of the Park Manor Congregational church; Catherine O'Brien, monologuist, and Walter Peterson, the "Kentucky Wonder Bean," well known Paramount record and station WLS artist.

The mayor's radio commission, the B. L. A. and radio in general were subjects of an interesting talk by Alderman Jacob M. Arvey, chairman of the commission and a candidate for a city judicial berth. Mr. Arvey is a member of the B. L. A.

F. H. McDonald, president of the B. L. A., read a report on the organization's activity in connection with the third national radio conference at Washington last week and this week. The Listeners' association has three of its members on the advisory and permanent committees, which will carry out the policies decided upon by the conference as a whole.

An invitation to visit WBCN, the new Southtown Economist radio station, was extended to the B. L. A. by Director "Bob" Northrop, who asked for co-operation, suggestions and friendly criticism.

This week's B. L. A. meeting, scheduled for Hamilton Park, will include a demonstration of a loud speaker by Frederick Will of the Multiple Electric company. Mr. Romberg also will give a demonstration, emphasizing the low-loss principle.

The entertainment will be taken care of by Traverce Bradley, ventriloquist; J. Harvey Arnold, magician; Hill, Hirsch and Gorny, "The Three Musketeers"; a noted soprano and others.

STATIC

By Andy Pheldown

The height of radiocracy, in our humble opinion, is the individual who falls asleep with the head phones on while listening to "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning."

We know one radiomaniac who rakes in all the code he can lay dials on because he thinks there's more music in it than in a lot of the jazz being put out these days.

It is with shuddering and shivering that we await a call for help from a man with a hook-up problem that can be laid to his wife's penchant for back-fastening dresses.

We're afraid such an appeal would catch us.

Which makes it a catch-as-catch-can affair all around, especially in the first instance.

After listening the other night to a conglomeration of shrieks and howls that set our skull to reverberating, we concluded we had tuned in on Station WOW.

And if not that, it must have been some station that is fast going to the wows.

If two or three more single circuit receivers move into our neighborhood, we'll have a community orchestra of our own.

We're still waiting patiently for a night-shift World Crier to broadcast a few snores.

Seems to us there are possibilities for forgery in this signing-off business.

Here's two stages of amplification that can't be beat: A proud but bedraggled father tramping the nursery floor at midnight, rendering sweet lullabies—that's one. A p. b. b. father smashing his little toe against a chair—that's another. Need we amplify further?

And when that happens, in chimes the loud speaker: "Henry! Stop that vulgar language this minute! You'll have all the neighbors awake, first thing you know. Why don't you look where you're going, Clumsy?" Etc., etc.

All that is necessary to make radio a complete utility is an attachment that will enable hard-working and harder-sleeping people to punch the time-clock à la DX.

Ray D. Owe says the long and short of radio is a short circuit during long distance reception.

FEATURE CARD BOOKED FOR C. R. A. GATHERING

William H. Hunt, the "knick-knack man of a thousand radio stories"; E. F. Bickel and Robert C. Donaldson, chairman of the club, will address this week's meeting of the Chicago Radio association at Ogden Park Field house Thursday night.

Nelson Cameron will demonstrate a duo-reflex radio lamp and W. J. Haferbecker, association vice president, will use the three-circuit vario trans-coupler as his subject.

The meeting is open to the public.

At the session last Thursday McMurdo Silver, associate I. R. E. and super-heterodyne expert, gave an interesting lecture on the super-heterodyne and also demonstrated the Silver portable receiver. Alfred Tweed and his banjo-mandolin orchestra, consisting of W. DeMoss, W. Cook, M. Zingerman and C. Wilson, featured the evening's entertainment.

SILENT NIGHT RECEIVES A JOLT

Silent night in Chicago was violated last week for the first time in a long period when the Calumet-Rainbo station, WQJ, by special arrangement, broadcasted the big "Chicago-to-the-Golf" waterways banquet program at the Rainbo Gardens. About 2,500 diners took part in the affair, which lasted several hours, including an elaborate program of professional entertainment.

AN INVITATION

Everybody who owns a radio set has at some time felt the need of technical advice. Perhaps something has gone wrong with your equipment and you are unable to locate the trouble or to adjust it if you have located it. Or mayhap you wish to know how you can get better results.

Regardless of what your problem or desire is in the way of information, the Economist will, through its new technical adviser, Walter J. McDonnell, endeavor to accommodate. All you have to do is write out your need and mail it to the Radio Editor, Southtown Economist, 728-732 W. 65th st. He will either reply through these columns (if the question and answer are of general interest) or by mail. To provide for the latter, a self-addressed stamped envelope should be enclosed with your request.

Contributions from radio fans are always welcomed by the Economist whether they be news stories, technical articles, diagrams containing something new and instructive, photographs, suggestions or criticisms. Address the Radio Editor.

QUESTION and ANSWER Department

I have a one-tube set that I have not been able to use since I moved into a three-story apartment building. It is impossible for me to get on to the roof to put up an aerial and that is why I have been unable to use my set.

Isn't there a way I can wire my set without an outside aerial and without having to buy a "loop"? It seems to me that I have heard of such a thing but can't remember it.

F. M. CLARKE,
256 W. 65th st.

Answer—A loop would not work on your set, so it will be necessary for you to run a wire either around the picture moulding if the room is quite large, or through the house if you have a long hall and can put up a pair of wires, one on each side of the hall and join them together at the set. Connect your ground to a radiator or water pipe.

An inside aerial is but a makeshift at the best and only fair results can be expected from this type of aerial on a one-tube set.

After getting such results as would not do credit to a bad crystal set on my one-tube ultra-audion affair, I have decided to remodel it. Will you please send me a list of parts required (especially coils) and construction hints, specializing on a one-tube set?

Does the one-tube set get good results?

ROBERT BOOTH,
319 W. 73rd st.

Answer—Hook up for reliable one-tube set and instructions for building same sent by mail. See article in this issue for a modified form of the same principle. Both hook-ups are good distance-getters.

Please send me a reliable hook-up of the third stage of amplification on a three-step set not using an audio frequency transformer on the last step.

WILLIAM LINDHOLM,
1401 W. 79th st.

Answer—In order intelligently to fulfill your request in regard to adding a third stage of audio amplification to your set, it is necessary to know the ratios of the audio frequency transformers employed in the first and second stages of amplification. It is not advisable to add a third stage of audio amplification, as the distortion generally exceeds the signal strength.

Radio broadcasting is to be employed by the fire department of Vienna, Austria, in an attempt to increase the efficiency of the department. Six fire trucks have been equipped with receiving sets.

HERE ARE DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING REINARTZ RECEIVING APPARATUS

LIST OF NEEDED PARTS AND HOW TO INSTALL THEM TOLD BY TECHNICIAN

By WALTER J. McDONNELL

The receiver devised by J. L. Reinartz is, according to the testimonials of many who have used it, a most satisfactory apparatus for the reception of broadcast programs.

A schematic diagram of the connections is shown in figure R5. The coils L1 and L2 are wound with No. 26 sec. copper wire in spider-web fashion on 9 "spokes" around a 2½-inch wood center, the completed coil being about 5 inches in diameter.

The plate coil comprises the first 50 turns. The wire is then cut and another 50 turns are wound on the same form in the same direction.

Taps are brought out to the switches as follows: For the plate winding, at 10, 20, 30, 40, and 50 turns; and, upon starting the second coil, at 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 turns, with a ground tap at the 10th turn; and, continuing the winding, at the 25-32, 39, 45, and 50th (outside) turns.

The connections of the taps to the switches are clearly shown in the circuit diagram:

The condensers, C1 and C2 are 23-plate vernier and for minimization of capacity effects of the operator's body the rotary plates of the condenser C2 should be connected to the antenna, those of C1 to the ground.

The writer has had good results using a WD12 tube with a 1½ volt dry cell to light the filament and 2 small 22½-volt "B" batteries for plate voltage. A .00025 grid condenser with a 2-meg ohm grid leak should be used with this tube.

This can be built on a 7x12 panel, and, if a 7-inch base board is used, there will be plenty of room in the cabinet for both "A" and "B" batteries.

The material necessary to build this set follows:

One-fourth pound No. 26 S. C. C. magnet wire.
One spider web form.
Two 23 pl. v. condensers.
One standard socket.
One .00025 condenser with mounting for a 2-meg leak.
Twenty-one switch points.
Six switch stops.
Three switch levers.
One 6-ohm rheostat.
Seven binding posts.

CHANCE TO BROADCAST OFFERED TO CHILDREN BY ECONOMIST STATION

WBCN RADIO MAN TO GIVE EAR TO VOICES OF SOUTHTOWN TOTS

Kiddies, how would YOU like to broadcast? How would you like to have your mothers and daddies and all your friends hear you over the radio? Wouldn't that be fun?

Well, here's how you can do it: Learn a song or a nursery rhyme or a fairy tale, if you don't already know a suitable one, and then come to the studio of WBCN, the Southtown Economist radiocast station, at 728-732 W. 65th st., near Halsted. Here you will be asked to sing or recite for the Radio Man and if you know your "piece" well and the Radio Man likes it, you will be allowed to send your voice out over the air to hundreds and hundreds of other little boys and girls, as well as their parents over most of the United States.

This exceptional offer, so far as is known, has never been made before, so a great number are expected to take advantage of it.

SUCCESS!
The fame of the new Southtown Economist radio station has reached even into the grade schools. Norman O'Connell, an eighth grade pupil at St. Sabina's school last Wednesday, used Station WBCN as the subject for an oral composition. Such is fame.

DO ANNOUNCERS TALK TOO MUCH? ECONOMIST WANTS FANS' OPINIONS

CHICAGO TRIBUNE THINKS THEY DO—HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT IT?

A much mooted question is whether radio fandom prefers a great deal of announcing when it is good or as little as possible under any circumstances. The answer is sought by the Economist and its new radio station, WBCN, both of which aim to give the public what it wants.

If, as intimated in a hot editorial in the Chicago Tribune last Wednesday, the average radio listener wants to hear the announcer as little as practical, the Economist wants to confirm this leaning by its own readers' written opinions.

It is some believe, be [illegible] of people think a clever, easily understood announcer should give free rein to his elocution now and then, the Economist wants to know that, too.

Whatever your view, make it known to the Radio Editor, who should be addressed at 728-734 W. 65th st.

HOOVER URGES JOINT RADIO BROADCASTING

Joint broadcasting on a national scale is advocated by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce. At the third radio conference in Washington, on October 7, Mr. Hoover delivered an address on this subject, urging that some part of the day be devoted to programs nationally organized and directed.

This could be effected, he pointed out, along the lines of the relay broadcasting that has been done this year in connection with political speeches of presidential candidates. An association similar to the Associated Press was suggested as a central program-distributing body.

In his talk, Secretary Hoover presented the following statistics on radio: The sales of radio apparatus today averages $1,000,000 a day, where a short time ago they were $1,000,000 a year. Over 200,000 men are employed by the radio industry.

Harry J. Mapp

To My Many Friends and Customers:

I wish to take this opportunity to publicly thank you most sincerely for the wonderful support you have given me in recommending to your friends the kind of service you have received here and the satisfactory manner in which your automobile has performed.

Automobiles have become as necessary in the life of the American citizen as any other one thing in which he invests his confidence and cash.

It is my aim to supply this necessity to the absolute satisfaction of the greatest number of people.

I can sell other makes of automobiles and make money, but as long as the Willys-Knight and Overland Co. and the Pierce Arrow continue to deliver the high standard of quality that they now have, I believe I am offering the best, and will therefore continue recommending to my friends these three makes of cars.

At any time that we fail you I trust you will feel free to call my attention personally to our lack of service.

Respectfully,
HARRY J. MAPP.

"STEPPIN' OUT" STAR NATIONAL ATTRACTION

Illusions of beauty are realistically portrayed, it is said in "Steppin' Out," the merry attraction which holds the boards at the National all next week, beginning Sunday matinee.

It is said in advance reports of the show, that much can be said of the lavishness of this production and it seems hardly necessary to feature the fact that it is the supreme effort of J. M. Weinsanden who has brought so many stellar attractions to Chicago.

The cast is not only exceptionally strong in quality, but quantity as well and the comedians are some of the most popular on the circuit.

Dick Quinn, whose eccentricities have made him in demand on many other shows as a most versatile comedian, with a flow of natural humor that keeps the audience in an uproar of laughter throughout the entire performance and Charles Burns whose clever delineation of the Hebrew character has made him a favorite to burlesque patrons put over the comedy of the show. They are assisted by Bob Robinson who is one of the classiest straight men in burlesque, Earl Miller a clever singing and dancing juvenile and Henry Carr the possessor of a beautiful tenor voice.

Florence King, a golden voiced singer has a pleasing personality and displays many beautiful gowns. Trixie Sand a clever ever smiling ingenue assists ably in the comedy scenes in the performance. Opal Taylor, a peppery bobbed haired soubrette puts over the fast dancing numbers and Ruth Clark who handles the character parts exceptionally well completes the cast of principals.

LOCAL TALENT TO SING FOR OAK FOREST SICK

Talent from this vicinity will assist the Chicago Highlanders' Kiltie band at its appearance in the Oak Forest Infirmary Sunday afternoon. The band has previously played there for inmates and employes twice this season. The majority of its members are overseas soldiers the organization having had its inception in the Gordon Highlanders' battalion.

Scotch songs will be sung by Miss Jessie Muir and Miss Nan Muir, 635 W. 60th st, also by Mrs. Ruby Dinning of that address, Miss Hazel O'Neil, 6840 Marshfield ave. Edward Dempsey, 843 W. Garfield blvd, and several others. Dances will be given.

Entertainments for the patients and the staff are arranged by Frank Cunningham and Dan Cunnnigham, 6603 Marshfield ave, under the auspices of the St. Vincent Dell'and society. A motor bus and ten automobiles will convey the entertainers and their friends to the institution.

Mrs. A. Meyer 6814 Bishop st who has been ill, is reported somewhat better now.

"INTER-COLLEGIANS" WILL FURNISH MUSIC

The Inter-Collegians a splendid musical organization of eleven artists, are heralded as the headline attraction at the Englewood theater 63rd and Halsted sts, the first half of this week, opening with a matinee Thursday.

Harry Green a Broadway and Loop favorite will also be on the bill. Tom Hoier and company in a musical offering. Teelack and Dean fun makers and others are to contribute to a well balanced program.

With an all star cast, the internationally known comedian Roscoe Ails and other celebrities, including Kate Pullman and Delano Dell, famous dancing headliners, will appear in the second spectacular production of augmented vaudeville to be seen for ten days starting Sunday matinee. This will be one of the fastest fun frolics of the season. Six big feature acts with a glorious octette of Broadway's most scintillating, syncopating misses and a snappy jazz band including a surprise revue, entitled "Jazz Mania."

John Farrell, 6649 Carpenter st, a police officer assigned to the second district and his wife Emma, were slightly injured Saturday evening, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck from behind by a street car at 59th and Halsted sts. Farrell had stopped his machine to allow traffic to pass when the car rammed it from behind. Both were able to return to their home unassisted.

DEFER HARPER STRIKE, WAIT DEVER'S ACTION

should be accommodated in their home district. The churches offered the use of those buildings but President Moderwell assured us that portables could be built to house the pupils. I have protested the transfer of the children because I feel morally responsible for their safety. Does not the board of education feel responsible also?"

Letter from Moderwell

The letter giving Mr. Moderwell's promise was then presented to Mayor Dever for perusal.

Business men of the district added their views. Frank R. McClarr spoke briefly. "The safety of hundreds of children is endangered," said he. "When we protested to the board of education, we were told that other schools are in the same predicament. That answer is as futile as the belief that because one man gets an arm broken, others should have theirs broken, too. Police protection hasn't safeguarded children of the territory. Two children were killed at crossings last year, yet scores of children are ordered transferred across two boulevards and three street car lines."

Alderman Terence F. Moran, who introduced several of the protesting parents to the mayor, asked for the executive's influence. Alderman Patrick F. Ryan told the mayor 95 per cent of the protesting faction are home-owners who purchased residences in the district because Harper school was easy of access for their children.

"You are the man who appointed the school board and it is to you we turn for help now," Alderman Byrne said to Mayor Dever. "This situation can be rectified and it must be even if you must suspend rules to do it. These people have not been alarmed by 'fire-brands' stirring up trouble, but by the danger to their children. If junior high schools must be introduced, let the board do it when it has the facilities for that system. The board must rectify its broken word."

"I'm Not Schoolboard"

"I am not the schoolboard, Tom," the mayor responded, "I will have to set aside rules if I interfere and the most I can do is to exercise what influence I have. I don't want to see you strike for that is not the course that will win."

Placating the crowd, the mayor said he considered there must be justice in the appeal of so large a delegation. He was informed then that the group present comprised only the committee and that a delegation of protesting parents would more than crowd the mayor's entire suite of offices.

"If I had a child crossing dangerous tracks, I would share your concern," he told the parents. "There must be something that can be done." He then hurried from the meeting to a pressing conference with engineers, leaving the committee with no definite plan for his contemplated action.

Decision to carry their troubles to the mayor was made at a meeting of 200 parents Wednesday evening at Thoburn M. E. church. The majority of those present signed a petition promising to withdraw their children from school unless they could attend in Harper district.

League Votes Strike

By a vote of 150 to 19, members of the Civic league of West Englewood decided Friday evening to call a "strike" of school children beginning Tuesday morning. This decision was reached after a motion by E. E. Colby, 6528 Hermitage ave., had been made in favor of the action. This was seconded by Frank Lloyd and given the almost unanimous support of the parents present. When admonished to wait for the mayor's action before taking such a drastic step the general opinion expressed was that Dever had had six weeks in which to intervene, and that delays in removing all pupils from the Harper school only postponed settlement of the trouble.

The parents pledged themselves to keep their children out of classes until portables were actually opened at the Harper building to care for every pupil of the district.

A pledge signed by them read: "We the people of the Harper district who have children attending the Harper school, hereby pledge to continue the fight until we get our just rights and the board of education gives us our dues by providing schools in the district." Postponement of further action was made to Thursday evening of this week when a meeting will be held under the joint sponsorship of the West Englewood Lions club, the West Englewood Business District association, and the Civic league.

T. F. O'Rourke urged that the Civic league organization be continued for co-operation on future school building projects and other matters concerned with the people of the district. He also announced the appointment of a committee of women, two from each street in the Harper district, who will canvass the Harper and Earle school districts in case an extension of the strike zone is deemed advisable.

ENDEAVORERS WORK TO GET OUT VOTERS

The Christian Endeavor societies of the southwest part of Chicago, comprising the Southwest Christian Endeavor union, will open their fall work with a rally Thursday evening, October 23, at the Emerald Avenue Presbyterian church, Marquette rd. and Emerald ave. The service will begin at 8 o'clock with music by the Christian Endeavor orchestra of the Pilgrim Congregational church.

The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Will F. Shaw, pastor of the Ashland Christian church, 62nd and Laflin sts. His subject will be "The Price of Being an Endeavorer."

Co-operating with the work of the Better Government association, the members of the Union are conducting a campaign to get all members and alumni out to the polls for November 4.

The new officers of the organization are:

Acting president, Clyde W. Lint, 19 S. Wells st.; first vice president, Miss Gussie Bowen, 1135 W. 71st st.; second vice president, Orville Cord, 6155 Ashland ave.; third vice president, William Schulte, 9609 Hoyne ave.; fourth vice president, Carl Sommer, 6224 Honore st.; secretary, Clarke Taylor, 9525 Seeley ave.; treasurer, Ernest Kilgore, West Englewood Trust and Savings bank.

SALVATION ARMY FUNDS DRIVE IS STILL ON

Englewood's busiest corners will be attacked by a bevy of local women and Salvation Army lassies on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in connection with a series of "button days" which are to help swell the quota that has been set at $319,000, the amount needed to carry on the work of the Army in Chicago during 1924-1925.

"Help the Salvation Army do its good work by making your dollars do 'real service'," urged Captain Youngman, commander at the Englewood temple. The Army needs no introduction to any citizen in the United States. The war is at an end, but the Salvation Army is still sticking to its pre-war work in addition to taking care of a great deal of suffering resulting from the war, and extending its grasp to help those needy souls who are discouraged and at the point of giving up.

"Funds must come from a generous public to finance the cause, therefore a reception to the workers this week, not with a ten cent piece but with a real substantial donation, will be money well invested and will bring more than its regular rate of return. Wear a button and be proud to be one of the givers."

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Moore and family have moved to 415 E. 64th st.

Fred Klippel, 7019 Prairie ave., went to Buffalo, N. Y., last week to attend the funeral of his sister, Miss Elizabeth Klippel.

The Chicago Council of Religious Education is composed of the Chicago Sunday School association and the religious education department of the Chicago Church federation. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest among all peoples in religious education.

Miss Melba [illegible], 633 W. 79th st., will leave Thursday of this week for Plattsmouth, Nebr., to accept a position as pastor's assistant at the Methodist Episcopal church there. Sunday schools. She received her training at the Chicago Missionary training school where she was graduated last June. Miss Parmelee has lived in the community all of her life and her many friends here wish her success in her new adventure.

REV. KIRK W. ROBBINS PROMOTED TO NEW CHURCH IN EVANSTON

MILTON WAHL IS ASSIGNED TO CHANDLER CHARGE AT ROCK RIVER CONFERENCE

Dr. O. W. Taylor, for nearly thirty years a Methodist minister, was appointed successor to the Rev. Kirk W. Robbins, pastor of the Auburn Park M. E. church, 75th st. and Harvard ave., at the Rock River conference which ended Monday night of last week at Sterling, Ill.

The new minister has been located at the Ravenswood M. E. church for the past year. His previous charges have been at Rochester, Minn., seven years; Aberdeen, S. D., five years; Kenosha, Wis., five years and Madison, Wis., four years. He was educated at the Garrett Biblical institute and at the University of Iowa. He preached his first sermon at the local church Sunday morning and will move to the vicinity late this week.

The Rev Mr. Robbins has been promoted to the Hemenway church in Evanston after four years spent in Auburn Park.

Milton Wahl, a student pastor from Garrett Biblical institute at Evanston was appointed to succeed M. S. Collins as pastor of the Chandler M. E. church, 72nd and Carpenter sts. The latter is now in charge of a pastorate at Orlando, Ill.

Reappointments of Englewood ministers were those of the Rev. J. L. Anderson, Park Manor M. E. church, 70th st. and South Park ave., seventh year, the Rev. G. L. Nesmith, Garfield Boulevard M. E. church, 55th st. and Emerald ave., second year and the Rev. Claud C. Travis, Englewood M. E. church, 64th st. and Stewart ave., eighth year.

HAMILTON PARK GROUP WANTS BETTER SEWER

Representatives were named by the Hamilton Park Improvement association at its director's meeting, October 8, at the home of James Hyland, 7305 Yale ave., to confer with the sewer committee of the Englewood Civic and Commercal association to obtain adequate sewer accommodations for Southtown. Mrs. R. Nightingale, 7412 Harvard ave., James Hyland and Edward W. Tatge, 7236 Princeton ave., will serve.

Protest against the condition of streets and alleys in the district will be made by a committee in a letter to Col. A. A. Sprague. Complaint will be voiced against the inadequate appropriation made for the upkeep of the ward. A copy of the communication will be sent to Alderman Donald S. McKinlay.

Additional traffic protection for the corners of 73rd st. and Vincennes ave. and 75th st. and Vincennes ave., will be sought by a committee of Mr. Hyland, M. H. Stimson, 7336 Princeton ave., and A. T. Squier, 7221 Yale ave. They will call upon Capt. Michael Lee of Englewood police station the latter part of this week to present that need. They will also ask the establishment of a safety zone for loading cars at these corners and request that a traffic officer be stationed at them from 8 o'clock in the morning until that hour at night.

Each director volunteered to carry on a block campaign to bring former members into the association this year. A committee was appointed to plan an entertainment for property owners and their friends at Hamilton Park Field house to take place soon.

OLD FAMILIAR SONGS HAVE CHARMS NOT FOUND IN JAZZ AIRS

By W. M. MASON

"And she sang the song of home sweet home,
The song that reached my heart."
—Old English.

ONE of the greatest legacies that a mother leaves to her children is the memory of the songs she sang. They carry us back again to tender years, when the days were all the same, and the hours were full and golden. They tug our heart strings with big emotions as we recall her tender care and kindly word, and as we sit at evening with the lowered lights an old refrain of some familiar song recalls the picture of the singer, the dearest face in all the world—our mother.

And what is there about those songs she sang that haunts our memories? What are the secrets of their immortality? What gives simple tunes a hallowed charm and beauty that steals into our hearts and finds a lodgement as lasting as our years? Mother may never have studied music as you and I. Perhaps she could not read a single note, but still she sang, and you I are what we are largely from those songs.

The answer to the secret power of "The Old Familiar Song" is contained in the quoted lines above from an old English ballad. They are the songs of home, and no place in all the world is so dear to man as home. It is where we were fashioned. It is surrounded with those influences and memories that life holds sacred. Out of the home has sprung the most beautiful and melodic themes in all music. They are the thoughts of childhood, of school days, of merry-making and courtship. They are the pictures of mountains and fields, of babbling streams, of birds and flowers, of father and mother, and boys and girls at work and play, of devotion and love. We call them folk songs, and it is a good name, for they are "the songs that reach our hearts."

Folk songs are the foundation of all the great music of the world. You can scarcely think of an opera but woven into its entire fabric are the simple melodies and dances of the people. These old tunes are the source of the author's material. Without them, there would be no contact with the people, no background or national characteristics to give the work color, charm and life. They contain the early story of the people's struggle upward. Their joys and sorrows, trials and victories, passions and desires, hopes and aspirations, are all pictured in these simple songs.

Take songs like "Old Black Joe," "The Swanee River," "Ben Bolt," and "Sweet and Low." All of them recall a train of memories; all are of simple charm and beauty; all tell a story of our early history.

Compare the old song with the new and what do you find? The new song (popular) comes and goes and no man hears of it again. Name four popular songs of 1923. You find it difficult. So do I. The average life of the popular song is from three to six weeks. They are here today and gone tomorrow. More than two hundred popular songs are published every month. Where are they now?

But the old song is as lasting as the hills. They were sung to us as children and we will sing them to our grandchildren.

The new song seldom has a message. Its words are either foolish or meaningless and might have been born in an asylum. "Yes, We Have No Bananas," "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," and "Toot Toot Tootsie," are samples of the modern song you hear today, and they are so jazzed and syncopated and vamped by trombone, tom tom and sax that it's a strain on one's imagination to tell where music begins and bedlam ends.

Look at the most successful singers of today and you will find that their greatness lies more in the songs they sing than in their remarkable voices.

It is true that most people who hear Galli Curci are first astounded by her wonderful art in florid phrasing and pyrotechnic in the high register of her voice, but she has endeared more people to her by such songs as the "Last Rose of Summer" and "Home, Sweet Home" than by the mad scene or the "Bell Song."

The same is true of John McCormack. You often hear it said that there is only one McCormack. This is true to a certain extent. A real critic of tenors would not consider him in the same class with Muratore, Schipa or Bonci as a singing artist. What is it that enables him to outsell them at the box office. Why can't the great opera companies afford to pay for his services?

It is the songs he sings. Perhaps no other singer in the world is such a master of old songs and folk music. Audiences of 25,000 will come to hear him sing the same old Irish songs, year after year, because they are life's immortal tunes, the heart throbs of common folk, and they grow more beautiful and golden as the years come and go.

Schumann-Heink once said, "Let me sing the songs my mother sang and you may have all the opera in the world," and Chaliapin, the greatest living interpreter of song, in an article in this month's Ladies Home Journal, begins with these words: "That I am a singer at all is due directly to the fact that my mother loved songs. As far as my memory reaches I can hear her crooning them." You will find over half of his recitals given over to the folk songs of his people.

HEART DISEASE CAUSES SUDDEN DEATH OF BRIGGS

MUSIC DEPARTMENT IS MOST POPULAR IN LOCAL WOMAN'S CLUB

ENCOURAGEMENT OF AMERICAN COMPOSERS AND ARTISTS GIVEN BY CLUBS

Among the oldest departments of the organization, music is the most popular with the members of the Englewood Woman's club. A program of this group always attracts 400 or 500 women. Why?

Mrs. Willis E. Tower, 344 W. Normal pkwy., who is beginning her second year as music chairman, answered this question, basing her statements on her observations as a club member. Music, she said, is popular because it has such a widespread appeal; because it furnishes real entertainment and relaxation from the cares of life; because, through the efforts of the department, a greater appreciation of the art has been developed; finally, because the best talent obtainable with the club's means appears on the programs.

In accord with the recommendations of the Illinois and General federations, encouragement is given to local musicians and American music. The six programs of the department, beginning November 3, illustrate this, American composers and Southtown musicians being well represented. January 6 will be devoted to Chicago composers, with William Lester and assisting artists appearing in his "Reflections by an Optimistic Pessimist." Mrs. E. J. Murray, state music chairman, will appear on the same program, which will be in charge of Mrs. John C. Young, 7158 Normal blvd., third district chairman of music.

American music will be considered February 16, with Mrs. Charles L. Samson, former chairman of the department, as speaker. Illustrations will be given by Southtown young people, Marion Bay, pianist, 6824 Normal blvd.; Dorothy Fleming, pianist, 9330 Winchester ave.; Marion Fowler, pianist; Ruth Gregg, soprano; Selma Brueggeman, pianist; Mary Alice Reynolds, 7341 Yale ave., pianist; Ellen Young, soprano; and Mrs. Dorothy Clifford Tiffany, pianist.

On the same program the club quartet, composed of Mrs. E. L. Nelson, Mrs Samuel Warnica, Mrs. Henry L. Kellogg, and Mrs. Fred A. Eskridge, will sing, directed by Mrs. Philip H. Holmes. This work carries out in part the ideal of group singing recommended by the federations. Club choruses have been maintained in the past, but have been temporarily abandoned.

Development of a love and understanding of opera is one of the projects emphasized most by the local organization. Accordingly a talk on "Operas of the Season" will be given the morning of December 8 by Maurice Rosenfeld, music critic of the Daily News. Miss Mildred De La, 6801 Wentworth ave., will appear the same morning, giving several piano selections.

Prevention of fire by elimination of rubbish piles and other hazards was urged Friday noon by Frank Prindeville, engineer of the city Fire Prevention bureau, speaking before Englewood high school students.

"Clean out the papers and refuse from attics," he said, "if you want to be really safe from fires."

The assembly was sponsored by the Englehoosters under Abel Jacobson, chairman of their civic industrial committee. This organization is carrying on a safety campaign as its October project, and has placed safety posters throughout the high school building as well as in some of the nearby elementary schools. Small cards reading, "I am willing to do my part S. O. S. fire prevention safety first drive, October 6 to 10," were distributed to every pupil at the school.

Major George Hill, the school's fire marshall, his assistant, Frank Brashear, and Assistant Principal Frederic Lucas, advisor for the Englehoosters, assisted in arranging for the assembly.

TO NOMINATE OFFICERS FOR KIWANIS CLUB

Appointment of the nominating committee to choose the candidates for election of officers for the Englewood Kiwanis club on November 18 was made at Tuesday's meeting by President William G. Tegtmeier. The committee is composed of Thomas Reynolds, chairman, Roscoe Stern, Henry Eggers, Richard D. Hughes and Wendell Homes.

The committee will receive nominations from the members until October 23 and will make its report at the meeting on October 28.

Announcement was made of the resignation of Gerald E. Sullivan from the club. Mr. Sullivan has been ill recently and stated that he would probably be absent from the city and unable to attend the meetings regularly. Walter McCoy was welcomed in as a new member.

"STORY OF ENGLEWOOD" AT ECONOMIST PLANT

Folk who wish copies of "The Story of Englewood," the history of the district edited by Gerald E. Sullivan and published by Foster & McDonnell under the auspices of the Englewood Business Men's association, may now get them at the Economist plant.

The stock of books has been, during the summer, at the association offices in the Chicago City bank building, but in order to facilitate distribution to those who have thus far been unable to secure copies, supplies have been brought to the newspaper office at 728 W. 65th st.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vandenberg, 6952 Aberdeen st., and son, Henry, and Mrs. Jones motored to Niles, Mich., to spend the week-end.

Englewood Smothers Hyde Park Under 23--6 Score

PURPLE'S DUSKY PLAYERS SCORE 3 TOUCHDOWNS

Penalties and Fumble Give Scanlon's Crew Chance to Count

Englewood lived up to the expectations of its followers Saturday at White City Park by swamping its ancient rival Hyde Park, 23 to 6, to open the prep league race.

The Purples' dusky warriors, Verdell, Colin and Bradley did all the scoring for the winners with the exception of the two points gained when Thoney, the Hyde Park half, was thrown for a safety.

Four penalties, three for off side play and one for holding advanced the Stony Island ave. team forty yards in the opening quarter and put it in a position to score first. Englewood stopped "Butch" Scanlon's warrior near the goal line but when Colin fumbled after completing a twenty yard run off end Hyde Park had the ball again. Two passes, from Borelli to Hoffman earned the touchdown. Hoffman grabbed the second aerial behind the line.

Verdell scored for Englewood early in the second quarter by going from the twenty yard line across the goal line on an end around play.

Hyde Park got in an advantageous place early in the second quarter and once more tried to a passing attack. Verdell intercepted one of the tosses on his own ten yard line and with the field before him started off on a ninety yard dash that ended behind the Blue and White goal posts.

Colin made the third touchdown for Englewood in the third quarter. From the twenty-five yard line a play was called to send him through tackle. Hyde Park's line went in to close up the hole, leaving the ends open and the Purple fullback went around the outside with the field clear before him.

Bradley made the kicks after each of the touchdowns but his boot fell short when he tried a place kick from the forty yard line in the second quarter.

Just before the game ended Hyde Park was pressed dangerously close to its own line and Thoney attempted to punt to midfield. Carpenter sent the ball back poorly and before Thoney could retrieve the pigskin it rolled behind the goal line and the Purple players piled upon him.

BIRK'S BEVERAGES GET 3041 TOTAL AT BRUCKS

Games of Wednesday in Bruck's league were marked by unusually heavy scoring which boosted season's records and some individual averages. The high spots were the 3014 team total of Birk's Beverages and the 269 game by Milo Wiesner, the highest bowled so far. Wiesner shot a 664 total which is one pin short of the record. The Royal Sales were three time losers by more than a hundred pins per game when the Birks rolled 973, 1050 and 991 for their new three game record of 3014. Baxter was high for the losers with 599 closely followed by Jim Estaver who collected 586. On the Birk side, Wiesner was supported by Krieth who shot 607 and Bill Brennan's 601. Philip's 594 pulled him down a little.

LaBerdia Drapers were stronger than heretofore, with Art Lutz in the lincup, but lost the whole series to Sullivan Milk company, the second 984 to 1017. The winners totalled 2931 with the help of Eddie Blackwell who was headliner in this series with 640 and Bill Miner who pulled down 626. Cramsie shot 581. Lutz totalled 639 for the losers and now tops the individuals. His 235 in the middle was good for the cash. LaBerdia was second high with 541.

HARRISON, LAST YEAR'S SOCCER CHAMPS, HELD TO 0-0 TIE BY PARKER

ENGLEWOOD WINS LEAGUE OPENER FROM FENGER

Playing a fine game of soccer, Parker held Harrison, winner of last year's shield, to a scoreless tie in the first league game at Hamilton Park Friday. In holding the west siders Coach Maysack's green jerseyed eleven proved they were formidable contenders for soccer honors.

Harrison's excellent dribbling and passing attack gave the champs an edge during the first half but every time Parker's goal was threatened Cartwright and Weil, the Green and White fullbacks, shoved the ball back into the center of the field.

The visitor's goal was endangered several times during the second half but Parker failed to score. In the last two minutes of play Harrison rushed the ball down the field and Kline, Parker's goal keeper, touched the ball for the first time.

Englewood's booters opened the season successfully against Fenger at Palmer Park on the same day by registering a 4 to 0 victory. Fenger, a newcomer to the league, was no match for the smooth team work of the Purple.

Parker will meet Fenger Thursday at Hamilton Park and from all indications will come out ahead. Englewood's next opponent will be the Tilden eleven. The game will also be played Thursday at Hamilton. Both games are scheduled to start at 4 o'clock.

LONE STARS VANQUISH DREXEL MAROONS, 9-0

Raster playground won second honors in the district meet by capturing first place in the boys' junior and intermediate classes.

WALLER DROPS 'B' DIVISION TILT TO PARKER

North Siders No Match for Coach Wasserman's Eleven

Gaining almost at will on end runs, Parker swamped Waller, 26 to 0, at White Giants park Saturday, in the opening game of the "B" division of the prep league Waller was outplayed in all departments of the game and was unable to make a single first down.

Coach Wasserman's eleven scored in all quarters except the first. The green jerseyed gridders threatened in the initial session, but a penalty made it possible for the northsiders to hold the locals for downs. Line smashes by Gustavel and Erickson brought Parker to the twelve yard line and it was on this mark that the victors suffered a penalty.

Gustavel Scores

With Winer and Gustavel leading an end running attack, Parker mowed down the field for forty yards at the beginning of the second quarter and Gustavel went across with the first touchdown. Erickson missed the try for the extra point.

Gustavel scored again shortly after the second quarter started. Frary tore off a forty-five yard run around end to put Parker close and then Erickson and Gustavel worked the ball nearer on line smashes.

Parker scored for the second time in the quarter immediately afterward. Parker kicked off and held Waller. The northsiders punted and Winer grabbed the ball and returned it forty-five yards for a touchdown.

Parker Counts Again

Frary's speed around ends featured in the last quarter. After Waller kicked, the green jerseyed halfback put the ball on the forty-yard line. Then he tossed a thirty yard pass to Kibling, who sprinted the remaining ten yards. Erickson made the extra points on two of his four attempts.

Lutz and Ferner were Parker's stars on the line and opened most of the holes for the backs.

SPARKLERS NOSE OUT K. C. BILLIARDS, 13-12

Returning a kickoff eighty yards by some spectacular broken field running for a touchdown, Daly featured the Sparklers' attack in nosing out the K. and C. Billiards, formerly the Wallace Arrows, 13 to 12, at Armour Square Sunday. Kehoe made the goal after touchdown for the winning point. The Sparklers' first touchdown was made in the first four minutes of play but by a well developed aerial attack the K. and C. eleven scored twice and held the lead until the third quarter.

PULLMAN IONAS GET 45-0 DRUBBING FROM Y. P. C. E. GRID TEAM

EXCELLENT AERIAL ATTACK IS DISPLAYED BY VICTORS

Displaying an excellent aerial game, the Young People's club of Englewood ran up a score of 45 to 0 against the Ionas of Pullman at Pullman Sunday. Unable to score until the end of the first quarter, the club team then started their series of marches which ended in a touchdown when Sam Guberman grabbed a pass and crossed the line. Clausen then drop kicked for the extra point. Guberman and Musick were the outstanding stars of the game. Their work both on defense and offense gave the spectators many a thrill throughout the entire game. Time after time Musick added by some wonderful interference ran the ends for twenty and thirty yard gains. The entire backfield had very little trouble in piercing the Iona line after the second quarter. Pass after pass was completed in the second quarter.

The marches down the field usually ended in a touchdown. Musick scored the second touchdown on a fake pass and he went through center for twenty-five yards. Hasan failed to make the extra point.

The Iona team failed to make a first down against the strong orange jerseyed line. Meyers and Kraus featured in the line attack.

HOPE WINS CITY LUTHERAN TITLE FROM BETHEL

Raschke Regains Control to End Loser's Ninth Inning Rally

Stopping Bethel in the midst of a ninth inning rally Hope won the city championship in the Lutheran league Sunday, at Jones-Baumrucker field, in the final game of a two-out-of-three series, 11 to 8. In the last frame Bethel scored five runs and filled the bases with only one out. The northsiders appeared to have hit a slugging streak that would enable them to knot the score, but Raschke saved the day for Hope by striking out the second batter and forcing the third to pop up in front of the plate.

The game was a free hitting affair, differing from the three games that preceded it in the series, two of which ended in ties. Hope collected nineteen hits and Heck, the Bethel hurler, was so ineffective that it was necessary to take him out in the fourth. Marquardt led the winner's clouting, poling out a homer with Raschke on base and registering three singles. Wangerow, Boese, Mix and Gellerson each made three hits.

Bethel Starts Rally

Up to the eight inning Hope had the Bethel nine swamped under a 11 to 1 score but then Raschke eased up and his foes began to clout regularly. Four hits gave the northsiders two runs in this frame and then Raschke had trouble in gaining control over his twisters. Before he could bring the game to a close four more bingles were knocked out and five more runs scorel by his opponents.

Gellerson finished for Bethel after Heck was taken out in the fourth. He went in after Marquardt made his four base clout and four runs crossed the plate. He hit Rempert, the first man he faced, but ended the inning without any more tallies coming in when Gehrke grounded out and Smith fanned.

Hope Collects Prizes

Hope made a clean up on prizes through the victory. They will be awarded a south division trophy and the city championship and Edward R. Litsinger cups and each player on the team will receive a sweater from the Van Lengerke and Antoine Sporting Goods company.

Y. P. C. E. TEAM TO MEET TOKIOS AT NORMAL

Normal Park, 61st st. and Racine ave., has been leased by the Young People's club of Englewood football team and it will start to use the gridiron next Sunday by entertaining the undefeated Tokios. The visiting eleven, which is composed entirely of former prep stars, has an enviable record and a good game is expected because of the neighborhood rivalry between the teams.

Nate Wasserman, coach of the Parker high school team, will officiate.

The Job of Being A Dad

By FRANK H. CHELEY

President Father and Son League of America

LET YOUR BOY RIDE A HOBBY

Speaking of the contents of those pockets a little further, you will remember the memoranda book that clearly indicated thrift habits. Another of those books tell an entirely different story. Let us examine it a bit, too. There are two or three dozen loose postage stamps of various countries scattered through the pages. The boy then is a stamp collector and has the fever, with all its valuable possibilities. The stamps are doubtlessly "traders," for each is hinged and has the value neatly marked on the back, according to a standard catalogue. Here in order, system, business and a sense of values—seedlings of the utmost importance if they can be kept on growing until they mature into permanent character. Why not rejoice at their appearance and take them in hand without delay to cultivate them?

Then there was the large pocketbook. It contained a few bits of silver, a dollar bill and several "old coins." The boy had learned to carry a little money without spending it for the first thing that strikes his fancy, an accomplishment that many adults never do learn, and the old coins indicate a hobby. I wonder how much encouragement your boy gets from you for his hobbies? Are they considered passing fads? Few parents realize the tremendous social and educational possibilities that are in a boy's hobbies and interests and so supply little or no stimulation for them.

Hobbies are among the most constructive activities for leisure time, supplying something to do evenings and stormy days, as well as tending to direct reading and conversations and provide a healthful "playground" for otherwise errant thoughts. Surely they are worthy to be cultivated and conserved to the limit.

But what of the cigar bands and the chewing-gum wrappers? At once they suggest premiums, do they not? Something for nothing. Doubtless, some coveted bit of paraphernalia that seemed quite out of reach financially that might be ultimately secured as a premium for saving bands.

A little reconnoitering and the facts are easily obtained. Two hundred and twenty-nine bands would get a "sending set" for wireless, and 317 gum wrappers would get a "receiving set."

One mother I know "burned the dirty things up"; she didn't want "her boy's pockets stuffed with such rubbish. There wasn't any sense in it." That mother was in a fair way of breaking the world's record at jumping at conclusions. Is it strange that that boy found his mother a bit hard to understand and considered her "justice" of a different kind to that in vogue among his boy friends?

Those bands and wrappers were saved because of their premium value all right—but wait. What a splendid bit of boy character those colored papers tell when the truth about them is known. "Saved them for Jim so he could get some radio truck, too, for you see he couldn't afford to buy any like mine. He gives his earnings to his mother."

Two pals with common hobby interests helping each other is pure democracy, but ma spilled the beans by "burning the dirty things up."

The next time the two cronies got together the one said to the other, "Aren't mothers the limit?" and the other replied, "They never were boys—that's a cinch."

GOOD GAMES CARDED IN PREP, PRO LEAGUES

High School Teams Will Furnish Four Combats

Plenty of good games are carded for gridiron fans over Saturday and Sunday in Southtown. Prep followers have their choice of four battles that promise to be well worth watching and pro fans will be able to see the clash between the Chicago Bears and Chris O'Brien's Cardinals which is the annual classic in Chicago professional pigskin circles.

A record breaking crowd is expected to be on hand to see the doubleheader clash between Englewood and Harrison and Hyde Park and Tilden at White City Park. The battle between the Purple and the west siders will be the curtain raiser and the kickoff is slated for 1 o'clock. Original schedules for the games had the Englewood-Harrison combat slated for the morning and the Tilden-Hyde Park game as the afternoon program but Mique Malloy, manager of the White City gridiron, made arrangements in order that the twin bill might be staged. Seating accommodations at the park have been greatly increased and by offering two interesting battles for the price of one Manager Malloy will probably be rewarded for his effort by having present the biggest crowd that ever assembled for a regular league game.

Hyde Park is not expected to give Tilden any great battle but the game will be good from the spectators' standpoint as it will bring together two teams that depend much on forwards to gain ground.

The Techs' passing combination of Lutz to Urbik and Fleming consistently brings yardage while the Blue and White has a well developed aerial attack with Borrelli doing the tossing and Hoffman receiving. Englewood's easy win from Hyde Park makes it appear that the west siders are certain of a beating but Harrison is credited with having a better team than in several years and the fact that Bowen was not hard for them indicates that the Purple will have strong opponents.

The Lindblom-Bowen game at Normal Park is a counter attraction and unless the dope is upset Coach Moore's proteges will humble the South Chicagoans. Lindblom's triumph over Tilden makes the Maroon and Gold appear as the strongest contender for south section league honors.

Parker is picked as a winner in the "B" division clash with Morgan Park on the latter's grounds. Morgan was not rated very well as an entry in the smaller school's circuit but since the Hermosa ave. lads went out to Clinton Saturday and held the strong Iowa preps to a 0-0 tie their stock has advanced considerably.

Catholic league followers expect St. Rita to hold the longer end of the score in the game with St. Patrick's eleven.

CONTINENTAL TEAM TAKES LEAD AT K-B

Led by Couch, the Continental Restaurant five won three games from the City Furniture quintet and forged to the lead in the Kay-Bee bowling race by a one game margin. Loss of one game caused the Golden Rods to slip from the deadlock for first place.

Couch knocked over 615 for his series and took second place in the high individual average standing. His high game of 246 earned him second place for that mark and he rose from tenth to third place in the individual standings.

THE INDOOR SCHOOL

Judging from the number of inquiries there are a great many golfers and others considering taking up the game, unaware of just what the indoor school is and what it offers them.

I will endeavor to answer these questions in this article as I believe it to be of general interest to the readers of this column.

to play it well or get the results desired you have to practice. The indoor golf school gives you this opportunity of practice when it would be impossible to obtain it out of doors.

The indoor school is open the year round, both day and evening, which makes it possible for you to find the time to get the necessary practice conveniently. You can get to the indoor school in at least half the time it would take you to reach any golf course and you can get more shots in a half hour than two rounds of golf. It gives you more and saves you time.

The driving net with a canvas back stop enables you to play every shot with every club used in outdoor play. The hit can be made with the wood and iron clubs as forceful as you like, using standard golf balls. The cocoa mat gives the ball the lie of the turf.

The putting course is constructed so as to bring out conditions found in the outdoor grass greens. Effective undulations that test your skill and develop the judge of distance.

A golf instructor is avilable to give you the proper direction in executing the various shots. As you are able to make two to three times the number of shots in a half hour indoors, naturally you obtain a greate amount of service from the instructor.

The indoor school gives the golfer whose playing time is limited an opportunity of learning and developing his game to a point of equalling, if not excelling, that of the golfer of unlimited time.

Lot prices moderate. Should be investigated by everyone wishing to secure a cemetery lot. Such investigation may save the mistake of paying as much or more for an unfinished lot in an undeveloped cemetery as would secure a lot in beautiful Mount Greenwood.

THE SOUTHTOWN WOMAN'S OWN PAGE

THE LATEST
FROM QUEEN FASHION'S COURT
Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company

PARIS, Oct. 2.—One has heard of people with so much money they didn't know how to spend it. Every one will agree, however, that it is much harder to spend where there is only a little at one's disposition, for then one has to be much more careful about making mistakes.

To be fashionably dressed the girl with the slim pocketbook must play safe, so to speak. That is, she must buy things which are sure to be modish—things which are neither bizarre nor dowdy and things which will not date too quickly.

Take materials, for instance. For morning wear, a choice between kasha, reps, covert or plaid is good. For afternoon nothing bids fair to be more popular than bengaline and ottoman weaves, while for evening chiffon velvet is perhaps the safest of all the lovely tissues which are to be seen.

The long unbelted tunic is intensely popular and has many possibilities for made-over evening things. With last season's straight frocks one can always at least arrange a straight underslip. Over it can be worn a tunic of brocaded lace, beaded net or chiffon or lace.

Gold lace is much favored. Often this is seen with a narrow band or even two bands (set apart) of skunk at the bottom. A tunic may be quite straight, and for the matron it is often more becoming slightly fashioned.

The accompanying illustration shows a pretty Patou model featuring an uneven tunic. It is in gold lace and is worn over a sheathlike slip of mauve chiffon velvet. To match the American Beauty rose posed low on the left hip is a band of chiffon in the same shade set near the hem. There is also a band of deeper mauve making a horizontal striped effect. And, by the way, horizontal stripes are used almost to the exclusion of perpendicular ones.

YOUR HOME'S INTERIOR
DECORATING OCTAGONAL ROOMS
By G. M. Tencate

Octagonal fronts predominate in the architecture of apartments recently constructed in Southtown, presenting new problems to the person furnishing that type of living room. Its decorative mode and treatment differs from those employed for the usual square style.

Satisfactory treatment of the octagon room with its numerous windows has been illustrated in the accompanying sketch of a home at 82nd and Throop sts.

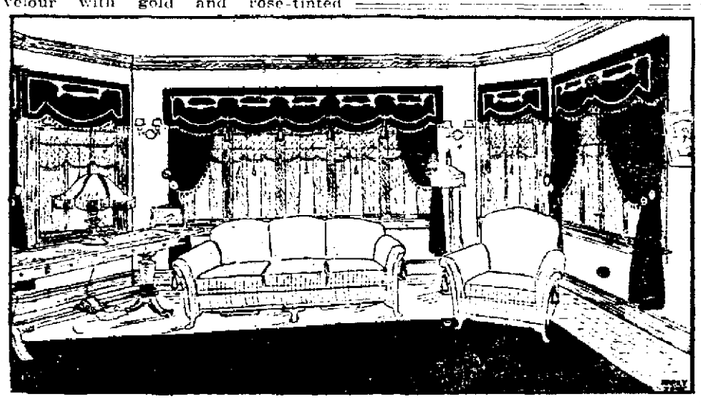
French windows opening to the inside with the stationary transoms above offer possibilities for errors in the selection and placing of curtain equipment.

Awkwardness will be avoided if shades are placed at the top of the transom instead of at the lower sash, thus permitting entire freedom of the windows by allowing adequate space where the shades can be rolled up when the windows are to be opened.

Soft cotton or silk net is best adapted for use as curtains for the lower windows. Small top and bottom rods are used on them; curtains are hung in pairs on each sash. One curtain covering the entire space of pane destroys the dainty effect of the French window. There should be six inches of the glass showing in the center of the two curtains.

Rods on the lower sash must be placed sufficiently far away from the window to permit the shade to operate between the pane and the glass curtain.

Transoms are entirely concealed beneath a valance extending across the five central windows. Material used in the above instance is mulberry velour with gold and rose-tinted applique. Heavy tassels on the valance and the tasselles fringed with which it is finished on the edges harmonize with the mulberry and gold colors.



Side drapes in Italian style contribute their graceful lines and are desirable for a wide group of windows where it is possible to use but one pair of drapes on each group. A heavy material such as velour is best suited to give a sense of balance to a larger room.

Floor covering is a rug in one shade of taupe. The davenport placed in front of the five central windows is of taupe and rose as is the armchair at the right. The davenport table is most effective in line with the left windows and is covered with a figured damask and taupe scarf. A large tapestry panel is hung on the wall opposite the windows. Contrasting color notes necessary in every living room are found in the lamp shades and other incidental furnishings.

Decorations and furnishings of the octagonal room pictured above are rich and elaborate but the same general effect may be obtained on a more simplified scale.

THE GOLDEN AGE

City streets everywhere are crowded with thousands of pretty girls, hundreds of handsome women, but scarcely ever does one come across one beautiful woman who is past middle age. It is, of course, much more difficult to be beautiful in age than in youth or maturity; it takes more brains, more taste and the courage to face the truth—yet it can be done, and one regrets that it is not done more often.

One of the chief reasons seems to be the fact that many people confound the ideas "youth" and "beauty" and in trying to ape the former, forfeit the latter. Yet a plump, smooth-skinned girl often is far from beautiful, while a sunken face and faded skin can be beautiful. Beauty is harmony, the approaching of a type, an ideal. The fairer a blond, the darker a brunette the more beautiful each will be. And the clearer an old woman expresses the majesty of age in her appearance and bearing, the more she accentuates its warm motherliness and the more charming she will be.

Paintings and statues give us many illustrations of this; proudly cut faces framed in royal lace, all understanding, all forgiving, smiles from under quaint white caps.

An old woman's chances of beauty are four; perfect features, faultless grooming, the expression of an interesting personality, and the hiding of all ugly signs of age. While they are budding or blooming—women may dress with great display, but once they begin to fade, a more subdued note must be apparent in the matter of clothes. As soon as the neck losses its round, firm contour, or the wrists become wrinkled, one must resort to frills. As soon as the waist ceases to be graceful or the back to be straight, then the belt line should be abandoned and straight one-piece or coat-dress should be adopted in the place of it.

A middle-aged woman should try to make the most of whatever hair she has and if necessary add one or two extra pieces to cover any thin spots. It is very important that she keep her hair in good condition and well groomed at all times, for nothing is so distasteful as "frowsiness" in an older woman.

It seems that stores, fashion magazines and dressmakers pay little or no attention to the woman past middle life, so far as designing clothes that are especially suitable for her type. The consequence is that she dresses in much the same fashion as her daughters or even perhaps her granddaughters! Anything of this sort is very bad taste for nothing could be more tragically ridiculous than an old woman in a French creation, hobbling about on three-inch heels. The fundamental note should be dignity always, and whatever she wears from her shoes to the tip of her hat should suggest the dowager queen, rather than an old woman trying to appear young.

In the matter of actual beauty rites the older woman must needs take the same care of her hair and skin and hands as she always did. A good, plain facial at intervals will be a great help and the manipulations for this as also for the scalp treatments are very restful and soothing, especially to tired nerves.

She should use powder scantily but, nevertheless, it is a necessity for her and also the tiniest bit of rouge, hardly enough to be noticed.

I realize that not all old women are in a position to afford professional beauty care and on the other hand many of them are averse to it; however, if they will be scrupulously clean and neat about themselves and their clothes and cultivate a tolerant and pleasing disposition, then I am sure they will seem beautiful to us anyway, and will command that reverence and respect which is their due.

Favorite Recipes

Jack Sprat could eat no fat, his wife could eat no lean. Such exaggerated differences in tastes do not exist in many families, luckily for the housewife. But preferences are very dissimilar in the food line. Remember that variety is the spice of life and pass on your unusual recipes, as well as the more simple ones, to your neighbors through the Economist column. Address "Favorite Recipes," Economist, 728 W. 65th st.

Apple Rice

A dessert, varying from the usual rice pudding, was submitted by Mrs. J. Driesch, 42 W. 71st st. Cooked apples mixed with rice and served with sugar and cinnamon, or, if a more elaborate dish is desired, whipped cream is substituted for the spice.

Cook until done, 1 cup rice, 1 quart water, ½ teaspoon salt.

The fruit is prepared by washing, peeling and slicing 5 medium sized apples. Add ½ cup sugar, rind of ½ lemon, and 1 cup water, cooking quickly. When nearly done, add 1 tablespoon butter.

Divinity Cream

Mrs. Charles A. Terriere, 7615 Stewart ave., submitted this recipe which may appeal to the younger generation of Southtown cooks more than a dish of great nutritive value.

Two cups sugar, ½ cup Karo syrup (white), ½ cup water, 2 whites of eggs well beaten, 1 cup pecan meats and 1 cup candied cherries (if desired) are the ingredients. Cook the sugar, Karo and water until it threads. Pour half into the beaten egg whites, returning the remainder to the fire, cooking until hard when dropped into water. Add to other mixture, beating all the time. When cooling add nuts, cherries and flavoring. Pour into buttered tins before entirely cool.

Spice Cake

"My favorite cake recipe," writes Mrs. T. Fisher, 6411 Washtenaw ave., "is a spice cake which never fails to please. The men, particularly like it, as they seem partial to dark cakes. It is economical, delicious, and a good stand-by."

The ingredients are 1½ cups sugar, 1½ cups sour milk, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ cup lard and butter, ½ teaspoon ground cloves, ½ teaspoon ground allspice, 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon, 3 cups flour, floured raisins and chopped walnuts.

"Bake in a slow oven," the directions read. For variety change the form, as Mrs. Fisher declared, "it is delicious as loaf or cup cakes."

EXTRA! EXTRA!

If you have in mind a new or used car, or truck, for this fall or next spring, with or without a trade-in, place your order or enrollment during opening week and obtain extra numbers on Tudor Sedan drawing. With each enrollment three additional numbers will be given, with each order for winter or spring delivery four, and with order for immediate delivery five extra numbers. It is not necessary to specify model wanted until just before delivery. If a used car is desired selection may be made thirty days in advance of delivery and car will be held. This will insure ample opportunity to select just what you want. The regular Ford deposit of $25.00 must accompany an order, with no more payments necessary until date of delivery. An enrollment requires $1.00 to $5.00 as initial payment, with small weekly or semi-monthly payments thereafter until at least 25 per cent of the purchase price (plus insurance) is accumulated, when delivery may be made. To accumulate the down payment of a car by small weekly or semi-monthly savings is an excellent plan in that it spreads payment out over a much longer period. 150,000 cars have already been sold this year by the Ford Motor Company on the Weekly Purchase Plan. Start your enrollment now—obtain three additional numbers on the New Tudor given away. Be in a position to take delivery on a good used car or a new one when spring breaks.

For example: $1.00 weekly beginning October 13th-18th will enable you to take delivery on a $250 used sedan by May 1st with 40 per cent paid in (including insurance).

$5.00 weekly beginning October 13th-18th will enable you to take delivery on a new Touring car by March 30th with 25 per cent paid in (including insurance).

Delivery date may be brought forward at option of buyer by increasing weekly payments. Examples as listed are just a few of the many possibilities offered on our Enrollment Plan.

RAPID PROGRESS MADE IN AMATEUR PLAYS OF OGDEN PARK CLASSES

FASHION PLAY" CAST STILL SHORT—CIVIC CHORUS FINDS GOOD MATERIAL

Rapid progress in the plays being undertaken by the junior and high school girls' dramatic classes at Ogden Park is reported by Miss Henrietta Fetzer, dramatic teacher.

The time of meeting for the adult dramatic class has been changed to 7:30 p. m. Thursday, so as to accommodate the older boys and girls who are working and cannot come in the afternoon.

Four more men are needed to complete the cast of eighteen characters in the "Fashion Play" being staged by the adult class, which is planning a pleasure trip to Milwaukee, November 6, for the purpose of seeing this play put on there by the Wisconsin Players.

Vocal Talent Plentiful

Some excellent talent is being unearthed for the civic music chorus at Ogden Park, according to Miss Nolin, the conductor.

Children desirous of taking advantage of the opportunity to obtain vocal training free of charge are asked to report to Miss Nolin in the Field house at 5 p. m. Thursday.

Miss Winn's wax art class meets at the Field house at 7 p. m. every Tuesday.

Her doll dressmaking class has 10 o'clock Saturday morning as its meeting time. An extensive assortment of materials for doll dresses is in the possession of Miss Winn and is available to members of her class without charge, being furnished by the South Park commissioners.

Other Sewing Classes

Mrs. Gunty has met such marked success with her children's sewing classes at the park every Saturday morning and afternoon that she has consented to start a class for adults to be conducted every Wednesday evening, beginning next week.

Fifty have registered for the children's classes, but, on account of the adult work being more advanced, only ten can be taken care of in the first adult class. Application for admission to this class should be made to Mrs. Gunty or Daniel Russell, the park director, at once.

The Ogden Park children's game room, which is the north club room of the Field house, will be open every Monday afternoon at 4. The first session was held this week.

Children under 16 are eligible to take part in the many games, puzzles and contests carried on.

LOCAL G. O. P. FACTIONS UNITE FOR CAMPAIGN

Harmony evidently prevails in the Republican ranks in the 18th and 19th wards, as evidenced by recent coalitions that bring all former factions together to work in behalf of the Republican ticket at the November election.

Within the past week organizations have been perfected in each ward, with an executive committee made up of representatives from all factions.

Activities in the 18th ward will be directed by an executive committee composed of Herman C. Vandenberg, James Rea and Daniel Anderson.

Headquarters have been established at 6936 Halsted st., which will be open every evening and where meetings will be held every Tuesday evening.

Republican headquarters for the 19th ward have been opened at 7709 Halsted st., and the activities of the campaign will be conducted by a campaign committee composed of Edgar B. Elder, state central committeeman, as chairman, and D. H. McGillvray, William H. Cruden, Judge George B. Holmes, John G. Mitchell, John J. Calnan, Oscar D. Olson, and Charles A. Nowak as members and chairmen of various sub-committees.

Arrangements are being made for mass meetings at various places in the ward and regular meetings at headquarters every Tuesday at 8 o'clock, until election.

ENGLEWOOD BUILDERS REHEARSE FOR PLAY

Rehearsals have been started by members of the Englewood Chapter of the Builders for the play, "The Crimson Nemesis" that the organization will give at the Englewood Masonic temple on the evenings of December 5 and 6. A professional director has been engaged to coach the cast of twenty characters. Members of the Bethel Chapter, Daughters of Job, are co-operating with Builders in staging the entertainment and will play the female parts in the production.

SPEEDERS TO BE TRIED AT GRAND CROSSING

Change in the location of the court for south side speeder was made effective Tuesday. Drivers breaking traffic laws will be dealt with at Grand Crossing court in the future instead of at Judge Curran's court, 48th st. and Wabash ave. The speeders' court there has been overcrowded and is not easy of access for local police called upon to testify in speeding complaints.

IGOE WILL ADDRESS 18TH WARD MEETING

Michael L. Igoe, candidate for state's attorney, and several other candidates for county offices, will address a Democratic mass meeting at Banner Buc Masonic temple, Marquette rd. and May st., Tuesday evening, October 21.

The meeting is under the auspices of the regular 18th ward Democratic organization, of which John Higgins is chairman. Andrew J. Layden is the ward committeeman. Regular weekly meetings of the organization are being held every Thursday evening at the ward headquarters, 818 W. 69th st.

WOMEN, CHILDREN FREE AT SOCCER TILT

Admission free will be given to women and school children at the White Giants Park, 74th and Aberdeen sts., Sunday, for the soccer game between the British Legion Soccer club and the Roosevelt A. C. in the preliminary round of the Peel cup competition. The field will be in use every Sunday during the season for soccer, the British Legion team and the Ulster Uniteds to alternate weekly on the grounds. Some good games are promised fans of the sport for both teams are members of the Chicago and District league and both are entered in the Peel, National and Knock-Out cup competitions.

HAMILTON VOLLEY TEAM LOSES TO GRAND CROSSING

Hamilton Park's volley ball team in the intermediate division was eliminated from parks and playgrounds tournaments Thursday night at Grand Crossing Park by the Grand Crossing squad. The best two out of three games decided the semi-finals match for the South Parks title and the home team won, 15-12, 15-13. Grand Crossing lost the final games to Fiske playground.

Those Who Do Heavy Work

out in the fields, in the streets, on the roads, in factory, shop or store, will find Chiropractic especially beneficial in relieving the ill-effects of strain and over-exertion. This exertion throws the moveable parts of the spine slightly out of position so they press on the nerves and shut off the life-giving currents that these nerves supply to certain parts of the body.

Weakness and severe illness in some organ of the body often follows; but generally these spinal defects sooner or later weaken the whole system and the worker becomes tired, depressed, out-of-sorts, and subject to all manner of illness.

It is therefore important that all who do heavy work investigate Chiropractic and learn how it eliminates the ill-effects of spinal defects by spine adjustments which remove the pressure from the nerves. Nature then can restore normal conditions and build up and strengthen the weakened and diseased organs.

CHIROPRACTIC
THE BETTER WAY TO HEALTH

is never followed by adverse results. Many run-down, out-of-sorts, over-worked men and women have been restored to health and vigor through Chiropractic (KI-RO-PRAK-TIC) adjustments, without the aid of drugs or knife. Learn about this new Health-way. You'll find it a wonderful help and benefit.
